Version 1.0 - May 2025

© 2025 INK-TEK INC. | All Rights Reserved

ATTRIBUTION-THROUGH-USE LICENSE

This license applies to all images, videos, digital assets, and audio elements created by or for INK-TEK INC. and made publicly available via our platforms.

By accessing or using these assets, you agree to the following terms:

 YOU MAY:

- Use INK-TEK images, visuals, renders, and audio in digital, physical, broadcast, and multimedia content.
- Distribute, remix, and publish in personal or commercial settings.

! YOU MUST:

- Visibly and/or audibly credit "INK-TEK INC." or "techrebel.ai" with every instance of use when technically possible.
- Attribution must be present in both metadata and presentation.

Examples:

- "Image courtesy of INK-TEK INC." (on visuals)
- "Audio licensed by INK-TEK INC." (in track credits, liner notes, verbal mentions on podcasts/streams)

!! IMPLIED CONSENT + ENFORCEMENT CLAUSE

Use of any INK-TEK asset constitutes binding agreement to this license.

Failure to comply with the attribution requirement will result in a financial penalty ranging from $100 to $100,000 USD per violation, subject to INK-TEK review.

This clause is enforceable under applicable copyright laws in the United States and internationally.

LEGAL PRECEDENT

This license is supported by legal principles established in the following:

- Campbell v. Acuff-Rose Music, Inc., 510 U.S. 569 (1994) - Defines transformative work vs. derivative, requiring attribution.
- Harper & Row v. Nation Enterprises, 471 U.S. 539 (1985) - Commercial misuse without consent results in damages.
- Bouchat v. Baltimore Ravens, Inc. - Attribution legally required in media and derivative use.
- Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code, Chapter 123 - Protects against unauthorized commercial use of name or likeness.
- Delaware Uniform Trade Secrets Act - Prevents distribution or misuse of proprietary or confidential visual materials.
